Two Romances Terminated by Wall St. Blast

Charles Lindrothe, Who Lost Life, Wedded 2 Months; William Joyce, Another Victim, Was Betrothed

Two romances were terminated abruptly yesterday as the result of the explosion which occurred at noon in the financial district. Charles Lindrothe, twenty-six years old, of 546 East Fifth Street, Brooklyn, one of the victims of the disaster, was married less than two months ago to Miss Madeline Dennick. They were spending their honeymoon at a cottage colony at Great Kills, S. I.

Another victim of the explosion, William Joyce, twenty-four years old, son of T. W. Joyce, head of the gold shipment department of J. P. Morgan & Co., was to have been married within a fortnight. His family would not disclose the name of his fiancée.

Both had served throughout the war. Lindrothe, who was a bookkeeper for the National City Bank, enlisted when the United States declared war and served with Machine Gun Company, 108. He was gassed, spent several months in a French hospital and was invalided for six months after reaching home.

Garden City Man Killed

William F. Hutchinson, thirty-two years old, of Garden City, L. I., an insurance broker, with offices at 120 Broadway, another victim of the explosion, was socially prominent in Garden City. He married Miss Dorothy Allen, a member of a California family. Mrs. Hutchinson telephoned her husband's office as soon as she heard of the explosion, and was informed that Mr. Hutchinson was "seriously injured." She started immediately for New York.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Hutchinson is survived by a three-year-old daughter and his mother. Ludwig Portong, twenty-eight years old, of 25 McAuley Avenue, Jamaica, L. I., also died in the explosion. At his home in Jamaica his wife is ill. She was not told of his death last night. Portong was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Portong, of Queens Village. He was born in Richmond Hill and spent all his life in the two communities. He was a graduate of Richmond Hill High School and served in the World War.

Colonel Neville Killed

Colonel Charles Neville, who died in the Broad Street Hospital, was said by the authorities to have lived at the Hotel Royalton, 44 West Forty-fourth Street. Inquiry there last night, however, revealed that Colonel Neville maintained offices there. It was said that Colonel Neville had not worn his uniform, and, therefore, the hotel management believed he had not been in active service. He lived, it was understood, in an apartment, the address of which could not be ascertained.

Alfred Mayer, another victim, lived with his mother and two brothers at 511 West 138th Street. He was twenty-four years old, and was the manager of the Morton Trading Company, 5 Beekman Street. He was in Wall Street on business at the time of the explosion.

Mayor Blames Radicals; Urges $10,000 Reward

Board of Estimate Called to Meet To-day for Investigation of Morgan Blast

After returning from the scene of the Wall Street explosion, Mayor Hylan announced at the City Hall that he would call a special meeting of the Board of Estimate this morning to consider the advisability of offering a reward, probably $10,000, for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who may have been criminally responsible for the explosion.

The Mayor expected to receive an official report from the Fire Department and the Bureau of Fire Prevention on their investigation of the explosion and declared he had nothing to add to what he had said at the scene of the catastrophe until he got the report.

All city officials concerned in the investigation were convinced that the explosion was the work of anarchists or other radical elements. The city authorities were anxious, however, not to do or say anything that might tend to handicap those on the trail of the criminals. A question of policy arose as to whether it was expedient to issue any official report in regard to data obtained and conclusions reached.

Fire Commissioner Thomas J. Drennan, Dr. William P. Doyle, chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, and Thomas P. Brophy, chief fire marshal, completed a preliminary report on the explosion last night which Commissioner Drennan declined to make public until it had been submitted to the Mayor.

District Attorney Swann placed an assistant, Alfred J. Talley, in charge of the county's investigation of the Wall Street explosion last night after he, Talley and other members of his staff had visited the scene of the disaster.

Process servers and assistant district attorneys have been detailed to obtain statements from witnesses. Mr. Talley has asked the Department of Street Cleaning to collect the refuse from that block in barrels so that it may be sifted in the hope of finding debris that will help solve the mystery.

Morgue Besieged Until Midnight By Surging Crowd

Thousands Seeking Relatives Among Explosion Victims Delay Identification Work; Police Guard the Building

The receiving room of the City Morgue, at Twenty-ninth Street and First Avenue, was the scene of a tremendous crush yesterday from the time the first body arrived until midnight. Thousands of persons swarmed around the building and surged through the main entrance. Many came to try to identify bodies and many from morbid curiosity.

As the work of the identification proceeded the crowd gradually increased in number, men and women elbowing, jostling, fighting their way through. The police, reinforced every half hour and stationed at every entrance, formed a blue-coated wall around the building. Despite their efforts, hundreds of persons managed to squeeze their way through.

The work of identification proceeded slowly. So great was the congestion that those in charge of the identification work had to almost fight their way to the slabs. After a body had been examined it was carried to the vault. Six of the bodies arrived at 1 o'clock, three more at 3 o'clock, four at 6 o'clock and the remainder at intervals until midnight.

The work of identification was held up early in the afternoon by the arrival of Andrew J. Tully, of the Homicide Squad, who said that he had orders from the chief inspector not to permit the examination of any bodies until the chief medical examiner arrived. At 4 o'clock Dr. Norris appeared. He was accompanied by several assistants, and the work of identification and examination again got under way.

The shrieking and moaning of women, following the identification of bodies of relatives, was heard throughout the afternoon and evening. Hundreds of women remained on the scene until after midnight.

"The Fitness of Things"

IS CAREFULLY OBSERVED IN THIS TRIO OF COSTUMES FOR MISS 14 TO 18

The Coat, 65.00 The Dress, 35.00 The Suit, 65.00

Considers the uses to which it will be put, and combines an unusual amount of service with real smartness. Camel's hair polo, soft and warm is the fabric—the collar buttons high in a becoming and practical fashion—and the pretty silk lining adds its share of chic. Colors, brown, twilight or blue.

Is of navy or black satin—a fabric which is entirely appropriate for the classroom in these colors. And always ready for service, of course, on innumerable occasions. The satin is excellent quality and makes an attractive setting for the colored Georgette with which the dress is trimmed.

Chooses an interesting material—invisible checked rayon—makes the most of it. Little panels of the material trim the back, and face the pockets—just enough ornament for the suit of a school-miss. Brown, twilight, or navy are the colors, selected for practical purposes as well as for good looks.

CORDUROY MAKES ONE OF THE MOST BECOMING VERSIONS OF THE BREAKFAST COAT—8.95.

Like the model illustrated, with colored flounce, pockets and big sailor collar. In pretty shades of rose, wistaria or copen.

BLACK SILK HOSE
of good quality for the school girl's recreation hours—1.80, 2.45, 3.50.

THE TAILORED BLOUSE
that stays so fresh and crisp looking—ten styles—in dimity—3.95, 4.25.

It Doesn't Cost Much to Dress Younger Girls Attractively

—THAT IS, IF MOTHER TAKES ADVANTAGE OF VALUES LIKE THESE!

29.50 for an All-Wool Coat

Is unusual enough, to be sure, but it's positively remarkable for this coat. Wool shadow plaid is the fabric—luxurious in effect in these colors—brown, wine or copen. Sizes 10 to 16 years.

16.50 for a Practical Plaid Frock

Is 16.50 spent to advantage! Young girls and plaids have a natural affinity for each other. Which is fortunate for plaids are as sensible as they are becoming. This frock is a dark cheery pattern with braid pipings. 8 to 12 years.
